WASHINGTON C. H., OHIO, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1916

REPORTS ARE YET UNCERTAIN

State Department
Waits for Authentic Information on Sinking of Steamer
Marina.

Fear Some Americans Were Drowned.

(Associated Press Cable.)

London, October 31. — Thirteen persons, among them probably some Americans, are missing in the loss of the British steamer Marina, according to American Consul Frost at Queenstown, who reports survivors as stating that the vessel was torpedoed without warning in a heavy sea and sank in ten minutes. Secretary Lansing, at Washington, said today that his reports on the destruction of the steamer still were too incomplete to permit of conclusions, or to allow him to dismiss the case.

Fuller reports, with affidavits from the survivors, have been ordered by cable.

Military operations in various war areas are being hampered by unfavorable weather.

On the Somme front, in northern France, the intense activity of the last few days has diminished until now only artillery fighting is reported in that area. Similar conditions prevail before Verdun.

In Macedonia, further progress for the French and Serbians west of Lake Presba, southwest of the Monastir region, is reported by Paris.

The Bulgarians announce an Entente defeat in attacks in their Cerna region and the driving back of the Serbians in the Moglenica district further east.

REPULSE BRITISH ON SOMME FRONT

Eastern Front Again
Stirs With Activity

Mackensen Is
"Pressed."

Berlin's report on the latest operations on the Somme front announces repulses for the British near Les Boeufs, north of the river, and of the French, who attacked La Maissonette farm and the near German positions south of Biaches.

The German artillery broke up any attempts by strong trench forces to advance in the region of Chaulnes, it was declared.

The eastern front again is stirring with activity. From the north of the Volynia region to the south of Halicz, on the Lemberg front, the Russians are attacking, and in the sector west of Lutsk report the capture of Austro-German first line trenches.

Berlin announces not only the repulse of Russian attacks on the Shara and below Stanislaw, south-east of Lemberg, but claims the capture of important Russian positions in the Narayuvka region, near Halicz.

Fighting on the Transylvanian front continues violently in the mountain passes and near the frontier.

No further advance by the Austro-German forces is claimed, however, while Petrograd reports the Roumanians continuing their successes in the Jiu Valley, pressing Field Marshal von Mackensen's forces farther north.

Berlin claims the failure of Roumanian efforts to recapture heights north of Campulung, where the Austro-German advance has pressed a considerable distance into Roumanian territory.

British Casualties

(Associated Press Cable.)

London, October 31.—During October British casualties reported from all war theaters were 4,331 officers and 102,702 men.

London advices today state Germany has directed reprisals upon Russian prisoners because of Russian non-compliance with German demands for improved treatment of German prisoners, according to a semi-official announcement in Berlin.

Certain Russian officers have been placed in camps where the discipline is especially severe.

NEARLY DOLLAR FLOUR ADVANCE

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Columbus, O., October 31.—Flour was selling for $10.30 on the Columbus market today. Last Saturday it sold for $9.50.

Local dealers are predicting that it will reach $11 before the end of the week. Beans were selling for 30 cents a quart retail.

CROWDS HEAR HUGHES TALKS IN INDIANA

Crowds Furnishes
Heckler, Who Asks Questions.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Columbus, Ohio, October 31.—Charles E. Hughes spoke outdoors here today to a great crowd that had come from all around this city to greet him.

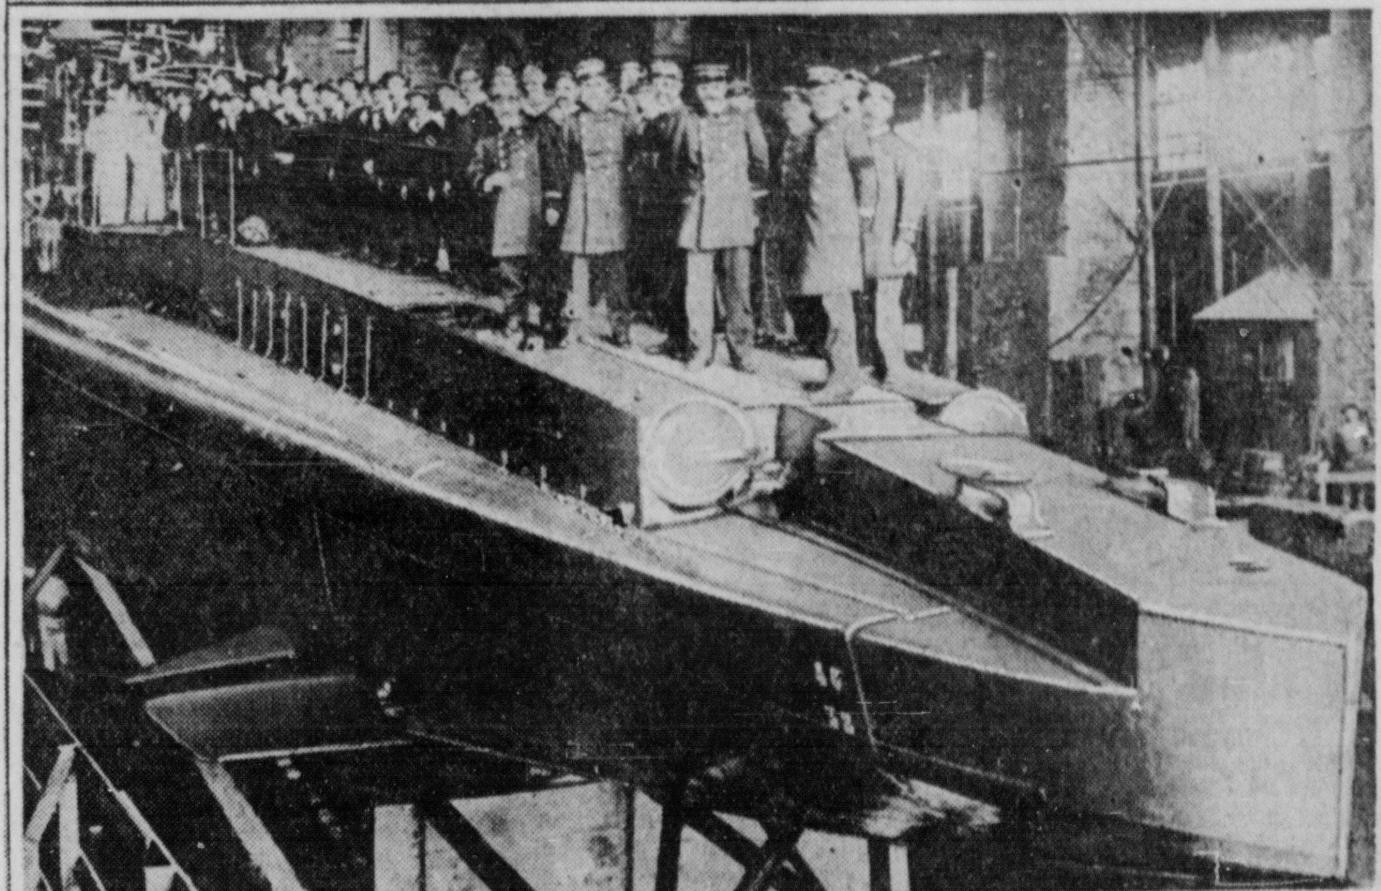

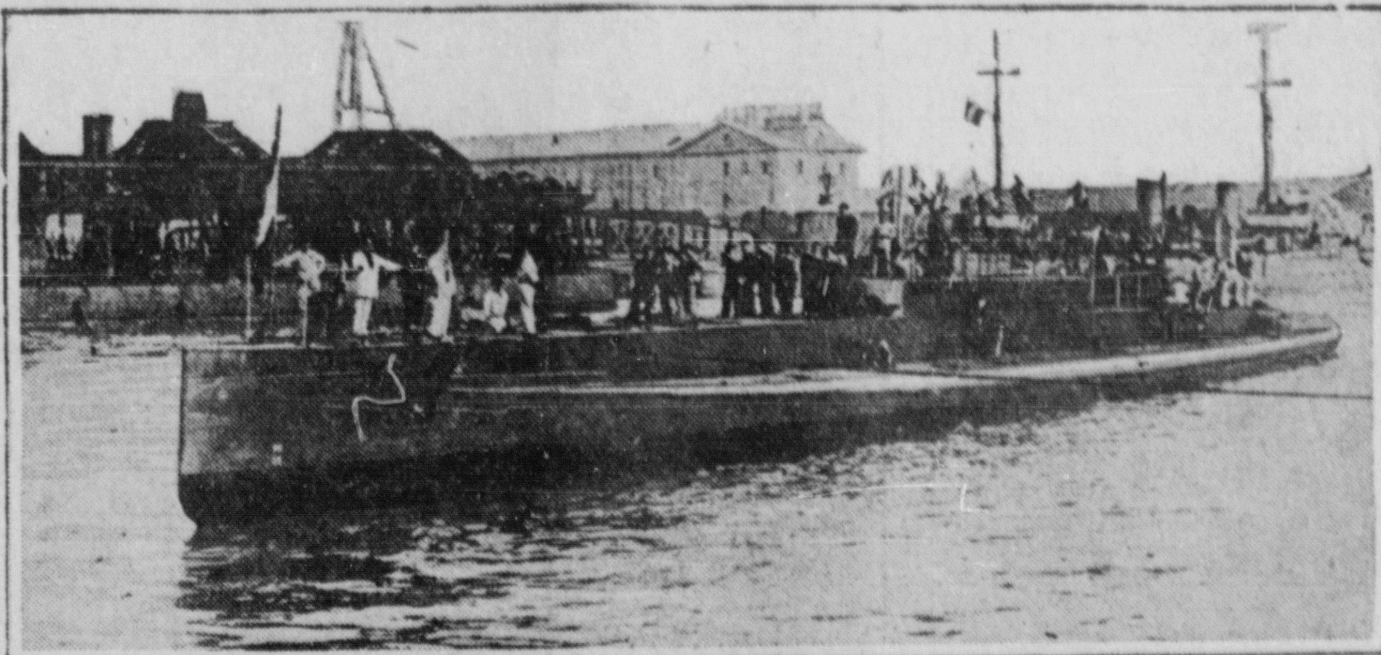

Mr. Hughes dealt principally with conditions which America would face after the war, declaring that Europe would be in a condition to send vast quantities of goods to our markets at that time if we do not protect our industries with a world regulated tariff.

He spoke for the protection of America's rights and property, no matter where situated.

"What we want," he said, "is an America standing for its own rights facing the world with a sense of justice, asking naught but that to which she is entitled, but fearless and courageous."

"In the event of your election," a man in the crowd asked, "will you, or will you not, favor or oppose an embargo against the shipment of munitions from this country to Europe or the passage of war resolutions warning Americans

FRENCH INVENT NEW SUBMARINE AND LAUNCH VESSEL AT HAVRE

NEW FRENCH SUBMARINE DIANE

French submarines have not been active in the war, possibly for lack of targets, since the German navy has not operated in the Mediterranean and the Austrian fleet has seldom ventured from the protection of the harbors of Pola, Flume and Trieste. But the French have some effective submarines and have experienced with some new forms of the submersible vessels that have been so valuable to their German enemies. At Havre recently a new type of French submarine was launched and is shown in the accompanying picture, two views of the vessel being seen. The submarine is named Diane. The launching was witnessed by a large gathering of French naval officers of high rank.

MINES HELD UP BY CAR SHORTAGE

Inability to Carry Away Coal Has Caused a Sixty Per Cent Reduction in Output.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Huntington, W. Va., October 31.—Many mines in southern Ohio, W. Virginia and eastern Kentucky have been forced to curtail output from 40 to 60 per cent on account of the car shortage. Scarcity of labor is said to have been felt but little.

From New York comes the report of domestic hard coal selling at $12 a ton. Dealers attribute the high prices to increased demands, heavy foreign shipments, and lack of transportation facilities to remove the coal to them.

Anthracite coal operators say that there is a serious shortage of labor, as many miners have returned to Europe to fight, and others have taken positions in munitions factories, where the wages are high.

Because of inability to get ten cars of coal which had been ordered for the woman's reformatory at Marysville, the State Board of Administration has authorized officials at the institution to burn wood until coal is secured.

It developed today that railroad officials have developed an espionage on their cars to ascertain whether the coal is being held up by brokers awaiting a better market price for the coal.

One coal road running into Columbus today discovered 56 loaded cars in the city in the hands of about fifteen different consignees, and has taken steps to see that the coal is promptly disposed of and the cars returned to the mines.

Railroad officials say they believe investigation will show that brokers or middlemen are partly responsible for the car shortage.

One Kentucky mine, which markets coal in Ohio and turns out 21 cars a day, in the last twenty days turned out but one car per day.

NO DEFINITE FUNERAL PLANS

Probable That the Remains of Mrs.
Fairbanks Will Be Brought to Springfield.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Indianapolis, Ind., October 31.—Definite plans for the funeral of Mrs. Mary Adelaide Smith Fairbanks, mother of Charles W. Fairbanks, Republican candidate for vice-president, had not been made today.

They will not be completed until Mr. Fairbanks arrives home from Illinois, where he was speaking when Mrs. Fairbanks died suddenly last night.

It was said, however, the body will probably be taken to Springfield, Ohio, for burial.

All plans for Mr. Fairbanks' further participation in the campaign have been abandoned.

SHORTAGE OF CARS MENACE

High Cost of Coal
Directly Attributed to Car Shortage.

Officials Are Active
to Relieve Conditions.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Columbus, O., October 31. — The increased cost of coal has become an important question in Ohio this week, and a number of investigations are being made with a view to combatting the rising prices.

The State Public Utilities Commission today sent telegrams to officials of all railroads operating in Ohio, ordering them to file with the commission not later than Thursday a statement showing the number of coal cars loaded and in transit, or at stations along their lines, on October 30, and showing the number of days' detention because of demurrage.

The commission has been investigating the situation for more than a week, and under orders from the Governor is authorized to take whatever steps are necessary to help correct the situation.

The Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company has announced that it will furnish coal to its employees in need of fuel, as long as necessary at $4 a ton.

The city of Conneaut has a large supply of fuel on hand for its municipal lighting plant and is helping out citizens in need of coal at $4.50 a ton.

At Cleveland a conference is being held today between representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and railroad and coal men.

The car shortage is recognized as the cause of the increasing cost of fuel. The county prosecutor has been ordered by the council there to investigate coal prices.

Three large brick concerns, employing several hundred men, have already had to close on account of the prohibitive cost of fuel, and it is said that several others are preparing to cut down or suspend operations until coal can again be obtained at regular prices.

RETURNING TO THE NORMAL

Carranza Envoys on the Situation in Mexico.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 31.—Normal social and industrial conditions throughout Mexico are rapidly being restored, according to a formal statement by General Carranza's representatives to the American members of the Mexican-American joint commission in session here. A summary of improvements was presented in reply to a formal request by the Americans to the Mexicans to give their reasons for believing that the Carranza government is growing in strength.

Another communication placed before the Americans by the Mexican commissioners was a telegram from General Candido Aguilar, Mexican minister of foreign affairs, denying Mexico City was to be evacuated and insisting that undue importance had been given reports that Villa forces had defeated a "small detachment" of General Ozuna's army in a "skirmish" near Chihuahua. The telegram added there were sufficient government troops at Chihuahua to overcome any Villista force.

The joint commission met without Luis Cabrera, head of the Mexican commissioners, who had not yet returned from New York. No reference to the statement issued at Washington and credited to Mr. Cabrera, in which American government officials were criticized for alleged laxity in the enforcement of neutrality laws, was made at the conference. So far as the commissioners are concerned, the incident was closed when Mr. Cabrera repudiated the statement. Secretary Lane said the state department had not communicated with him on the subject.

(By American Press)
New York, Oct. 31.—Dr. Lee De Forest has just given an exhibition here of the wonders of wireless music. TAKE A CHOICE

(By American Press)

New York, Oct. 31.—Chairman William Willcox of the Republican national committee voiced supreme optimism with regard to the outlook for the Republican side. He said between 310 and 320 electoral votes were safe for Hughes and that the latter "is gaining all the time." The chairman added, "New York, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana are no longer 'crucial states,' as far as Hughes is concerned. They are assured for the Republican candidate. The outlook in Minnesota also is good."

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the Democratic national committee, made a flying visit to Chicago and was at Democratic headquarters to get the just before the battle situation, as his western aides see it. After a conference with leaders, McCormick gave out a statement containing this: "It looks like a landslide." New York, McCormick said, would roll up a majority for President Wilson.

GERMAN VIEWS

(By American Press)

Paris, Oct. 31.—Field Marshal Von Hindenburg believes the war will end in 1917. The new chief of the German general staff made this prediction in an interview with a correspondent of the Vienna Neuw Freie Presse. "In war," said he, "it is a thankless task to attempt to prophesy events. But it is possible that 1917 will bring the final decisive battles. I do not really know, of course, but as far as we are concerned, we shall certainly continue the war until a decision has been achieved."

General Ludendorff, Hindenburg's "right hand man," and quartermaster general, interjected: "We do not expect peace. We are absolutely decided to continue the war. That is quite evident from the measures taken by Germany."

The interviewer suggested that the people want peace. "We all want peace," was Hindenburg's response. "The Austro-Hungarian people have completely fulfilled their duty. The only way of obtaining peace is to wage war."

UNIQUE CRIME

(By American Press)

Cleveland, Oct. 31.—Mrs. Wilbur Norton, a twenty-year-old bride of two months, charged with half a dozen robberies, and her husband, who, it is alleged, directed activities, are to be arraigned in police court. She is charged with robbery and he with receiving stolen property. Detectives who have been investigating for several weeks the activities of a maid who disappeared a few hours after going to work in five homes, taking with her jewelry, clothing and money, arrested the girl when she applied for work at an East Side home. Although though the girl confessed to at least eleven robberies, only five persons have reported thefts to police in which she is known to have figured. Nearly $5,000 in property was recovered at the girl's room.

CAN'T FORCE 'EM

(By American Press)

London, Oct. 31.—The Germans are creating a reign of terror in Belgium in an effort to force the men and women of the occupied territory to labor, a dispatch from Amsterdam says. Lists of burghers designated for forced labor in pursuance of the new German order are posted everywhere in Belgium. Many burghers already have been removed. Recently another 5,000 citizens were taken from Ghent and sent to Germany. The 5,000 were taken to the railroad station amid tears and lamentations. Groups of citizens drove through the town in vehicles singing patriotic songs and sarcastic verses about the Germans, but there was no resistance. The previous week there were disturbances in which burghers were wounded.

BRECKENRIDGE IS MENTIONED

(By American Press)

Fitchburg, Mass., Oct. 31.—Senator Lodge, in a campaign speech here, read a letter from John Temple Lloyd Jeffries of Boston, in which the writer states that Henry Breckenridge, former assistant secretary of war, had several times made to him remarks similar to those attributed to him by Charles F. Bailey of Tufts college, concerning the alleged elimination by President Wilson of a weakening postscript from the strict accountability note to Germany.

Now for the Rabbits

Tomorrow commences that period of the year during which certain individuals, designated by a wise legislature, may kill rabbits.
Throughout this section of Ohio at least the rabbit population has increased very markedly and as a matter of fact they have become somewhat of a pest. From a selfish standpoint it becomes necessary to wage a war of extermination against the rabbits.
They are really costly to the farmer and truck gardener. And yet there is something about the helpless and timid, friendly little "cottontail" that makes all sentimentally minded folks regret the coming of the time when the law permits their slaughter.
The rabbit plays the leading role in almost all the nursery tales and he has occupied that role for generations.
He is one of our first acquaintances, if not the first, among the wild things and almost without exception he is the purveyor of sympathy. Always the sympathy of the child is with the rabbit. There is a reason for that too. The rabbit is almost wholly unsupplied by nature with the means of defending himself against attack. He must depend entirely upon his speed and his ability to hide away in the longer tufts of grass and weeds and but for the dogs with keen scent and the men with guns he would stand a fair chance for his life.
The contest, however, is very one sided and our sympathy is for the rabbit.
Perhaps if we had produce that was in danger of being consumed we would not have such kindly feeling for the rabbit.
For several days now he must step lively, when out in the open, and construct his home in the secluded spots, if he escapes with his life.

Local Proposals Halted

The intense interest in the presidential and state elections, with the campaign now entering upon its last week, has measurably, diverted public attention from a proposal which is more direct in its effect on the people of Washington than the charter form of government.
Some few weeks ago the interest in that proposal to change the form of municipal government for Washington seemed at fever heat and the active campaign about to be launched in earnest.
The general election campaign has since then, however, attained full headway and, for the time at least, the local proposal has been sidetracked until the last few days.
Dr. Shepherd, the community efficiency expert is here for his second visit to Washington, preaching the wholesome doctrine of progress and efficiency—practical religion, if you please.
Washington people are very much interested in the subject of efficiency for the city government. That's what we need. It is to be regretted that the educational drive begun last winter could not have renewed before the last week of the general election campaign or postponed until after the elections were over and people settled once more to the very day routine and in a frame of mind to take up and consider carefully the local proposal so full of importance to the people of Washington, individually and collectively.
People can't think of so many big questions at the same time and do all of them justice.
The presidential and state elections are certain to occupy public attention almost to the entire exclusion of all other public proposals until after the campaign is ended.

Winter Approaches

While the Roumanians are making determined and heroic stands against the advance of the Germans and Bulgars, they have not been able, as yet, to halt, materially the tremendous advance of Mackensen in his offensive campaign in Serbia.
By blundering badly and delaying inexcusably the Entente allies have enabled the Central powers to win a signal victory which is certain to have the dual effect of encouraging the population of all the nations bound under the Teutonic alliance, especially the disheartened people of Germany, and discouraging the nations of the Entente alliance who had expected a signal victory in the Balkans which would practically end the war in Europe's "cockpit."
While the victory of Mackensen has been brilliantly spectacular and sweeping it is too early to predict any effect on the ultimate result although it is not difficult to see how it may have.
Certain it is that it will launch the warring nations into inactivity of the winter with an entirely different mental viewpoint. Instead of the Central powers facing a "winter of discontent" they will, following these latest successes, redouble their efforts in the hope of further victories on more decisively fields of action.

Poetry For Today

LIFE IS A BLESSED THING.

Once to have heard the song of the thrush
Bewilder the nameless glow of May;
Once to have dreamed in the twilight hush
Of the words which Love can say
Just these—and the lifted lips will sing:
"Ah! life is a blessed thing."
Once to have stood where the shadows fall,
Like the mystical veil of a sorcerer;
Once to have held in your arms the all
Of the world to you—the form of her—
Just this—and lips you have kiss'd will sing:
"Ah! life is a blessed thing."
Once to have erred and felt the pain
That stings when the soul is red with sin;
Once to have prayed and beheld the stain
Clean swept from the heart within
Just this—and the penitent lips will sing:
"Ah! life is a blessed thing."

FRANCE PLANNING FOR TUNNEL TO ENGLAND

Passageway Would Cost $80,000,000, Half to Be Borne by Each Country.

Paris.—France has taken all necessary steps to enter into negotiations with England to build jointly a tunnel under the English channel to connect the two countries, the long talked of project, which the war has revived because it has demonstrated as nothing else could the value of the tube to both countries.
Had the tunnel been in existence in the present conflict it could have been of immeasurable value to England and France for the transportation of troops and supplies and would have liberated French and British war vessels from one of their biggest tasks.
The plans were outlined by M. Sartiaux, chief engineer of the Nord Railway company, who is one of the strongest advocates of the project. He said: "The tunnel would cost $80,000,000, half of which would be borne by England and half by France. Each country would build one-half of the tunnel. Britain is spending just now $30,000,000 a day and France $20,000,000, so that two days' war time expenditure of both countries would more than cover the cost of making the tunnel."
"It is proposed to make two tunnels—one for traffic from France to England, another for traffic from England to France. Some people seem to think a cross channel tunnel might be a danger because it might fall into the hands of the enemy. To capture the French end

SEAL OF THE TREASURY.

Meaning of the Latin Inscription on Uncle Sam's Paper Money.
Many persons and even those with a rudimentary or fair acquaintance with the Latin language, find hardship in translating the Latin that is on the dollar bill as well as on all denominations of currency issued by the United States. This Latin is in the great circle of the seal of the treasury of the United States and that seal is near the middle of the right hand half of the bill. The legend on the seal is "Theaur. Amer. Septent. Sigil." being an abbreviation of the Latin "Thesauri Americae Septentrionalis Sigillum," meaning "The seal of the treasury of North America."
In addition to the Latin inscription on the seal there are a number of symbols on the seal, stars, a balance and keys. The thirteen stars represent the thirteen original colonies. Justice, the blind goddess holding the balance, has always been a favorite with the designers of state seals. The first design submitted for the great seal of the United States had this device in full, but it was omitted entirely from the one finally adopted. The designers of our treasury seal used the balance alone as an emblem of justice. Keys, in secular heraldry, have been used from remote antiquity to denote offices of state.—Washington Star.

Kaiser and Haakon of Norway Are at Odds Over Submarines

KING HAAKON AND THE KAISER

Norway has adopted stringent rules against submarine activity in her territorial waters, and Germany asserting that the Norwegian action is directed solely against her submarines, is greatly incensed. She has protested vigorously at Christiania, and there has been talk of an ultimatum. Since the war began it has been said many times that the Norwegians are anti-German, and the antagonism has been aggravated very much of late by the sinking of Norwegian ships by German submarines. King Haakon VII of Norway is a Dane by birth, son of the late King Frederick VIII, and was elected king of Norway by the Norwegians in 1905, when the latter decided to part from Sweden. He was known until then as Prince Charles of Denmark. His wife is English, sister of King George V., and daughter of Edward VII.

CITY'S OLDEST NATIVE BORN CITIZEN PASSES AWAY TUESDAY MORNING

In the death of Mr. Benjamin W. Wendel, at his home on East Temple street at 10:45 Tuesday morning, Washington lost not only an esteemed citizen, but one who was the oldest living man who was born in the city and spent his life here.

Mr. Wendel, who had passed his 79th mile stone on the sixth day of last June, was born in the Wendel home which at that time was located on the site of the Brown livery barn, corner of Fayette and Market street, and watched Washington develop from a village of scattered homes into the present thriving city of nearly 8,000.

He was a son of Mr. Peter Wendel, Sr., and a brother of Mr. Peter Wendel, Jr. Much of his life was spent in the occupation of a decorator and probably no other man in the city was more generally known than he.

For the past year or more Mr. Wendel had been losing his health and for the past two weeks his condition had been growing more serious until the end came quietly at 10:45 Tuesday morning.

The deceased leaves three children: Mrs. P. E. Wolford, Mrs. Harry Hays, and Miss Kate. For several years Mr. Wendel had made his home with his daughter, Miss Kate, who gave him every possible attention.

The funeral services will be held at the residence, Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, and interment will be made in the family lot in the Washington cemetery.

POSTPONED

The Browning Club has postponed the Tuesday night meeting to Wednesday night, owing to the Halloween carnival.

W. M. S. SOCIAL SESSION.

The Women's Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian church will hold a social session with Mrs. Jesse Persinger Friday afternoon at 2:30.

A silver offering will be taken.

VANDALS BUSY DURING NIGHT

Reports from various parts of the city indicate that the amount of vandalism done by would-be Halloween revelers, Monday night, was the worst in recent years, and the police have been asked to ferret out the guilty parties so that prosecution may be made.

In addition to the usual small acts of vandalism performed, quite a great deal of damage was done by the malicious destruction of property which will require considerable expense to replace or repair.

On East street large flower urns were pushed over and damaged, the deer in the Hopkins yard, corner of East and North streets, was overturned and broken. At the D. S. Craig residence a portion of the stone wall was pried apart and overturned, while at the A. F. Hopkins premises the damage done to the beautiful terrace wall and ornaments was heavy, the heavy concrete ornamental tops and coping of the wall were torn off and broken, and part of the brick wall itself was damaged.

In the same neighborhood other acts of violence were performed, and property damaged.

Tonight extra police will be on duty and all acts of violence should be reported to the police without delay.

Mayor Oster has announced that parents will be held responsible for damage done by their children.

It is suspected that other than children took part in the Monday night vandalism.

BIG DELEGATION GOES ON SPECIAL

A large delegation from this city boarded the B. & O. special train for the Hughes meeting in Columbus Monday night, 263 tickets being sold from this point, and the special train of ten coaches being filled with the exception of one coach, many persons from points west and east of this city taking advantage of the opportunity to go to Columbus for the evening. Many women were included in the party. The Washington band headed the Washington delegation, and added much to the enjoyment of the event. Reaching Columbus the party was met by a reception committee and forming in line, marched up High street, headed by the Washington band, and carrying appropriate banners. It was the first big delegation arriving from out-of-town and attracted quite a great deal of attention.

Many of those who went were unable to get into Memorial Hall and did not hear Mr. Hughes, although a large number who entered the auditorium early succeeded in hearing the speakers.

Leaving Columbus at eleven o'clock, the train reached this city near two o'clock, the engine being unable to pull the long train faster than a snail's pace, on the return trip.

HE SPEAKS AT COLUMBUS

Declares That When His Political Opponents Claim Credit For Delivering Business Men From a Nervous Fear of the Courts They Are a "Little Out of Their Reckoning"—Synopsis of the Address.

Columbus, Oct. 31.—Charles E. Hughes was tendered a rousing reception in this city last night.

The Republican nominee appeared before an audience that packed spacious Memorial hall. A parade in which 5,000 persons marched preceded the meeting. Delegations were present from Cincinnati, Dayton, Springfield, Marion, Delaware, Defiance, Athens, Bucyrus and other cities.

The Republican nominee devoted most of his time to an attack on "Wilson day," celebrated last Saturday at Shadow Lawn, N. J., and on the sentiments voiced there.

In his address Mr. Hughes said: "The other day our opponents had a little festival of self-glorification. They conferred upon themselves the highest honors they could bestow. They had emancipated, they said, pretty much everything and everybody. Finding no lesser praise to be adequate, they finally described themselves as the generous forces of the age and of the world. They say, in effect, that if a majority of my fellow-countrymen elect me, humanity will be routed.

"This delicate tribute to my own endeavors I keenly appreciate. The eulogy needed only one further touch and that was to celebrate the policy that led to the slaughter at Vera Cruz and Carrizal. These, I suppose, would be regarded by the 'generous forces of the age' as peace parties; and in the same whimsical domain of topsyturvydom, the Underwood and Adamson bills may be hailed as the guardians of American enterprise and of American labor.

"We are told that the business and the life of the country have been put upon a new footing. This is true. And it is a very slippery footing."

Mr. Hughes then declared that the administration is claiming credit for delivering business men "from a nervous fear of the courts." They are a little out of their reckoning, he added. He then continued:

"It is not nervous fear of the courts that troubles American business, but a wholesome dread of vague legislation; of two-faced laws passed by compromising lawmakers, intended to mean one thing to one group and quite another to another group, leaving to the courts the difficulties of interpretation—after election; it is fear of vindictive administration by governmental departments; of an administration which treats business men as suspicious characters; of government by holdup; of the placing of our highest departments on a basis of mere partisan expediency; of efforts to secure the votes of this or that group at the expense of the principles of our institutions—it is these which give rise to the anxieties of honest business and not the terror of the institutions which administer justice and maintain the stability of the country."

DISCOURAGING

(By American Press)
Minneapolis, Oct. 31.—Plans for bringing about closer co-operation and for strengthening the agricultural branch of the Industrial Workers of the World were discussed at length at the annual meeting of the agricultural workers here. William D. Haywood, general secretary of the Industrial Workers of the World, in an address advocated a strike of all farmhands in the midst of the harvest season as one means of obtaining adequate wages from farmers and compelling "fair treatment on the part of the authorities." Elizabeth Gurley Flynn also urged an agricultural strike in case other measures to bring about higher wages during the harvest season fail.

HIT WITHOUT WARNING

American Consul at Queenstown Ordered by the United States Government to Make a Thorough Investigation of the Affair—Americans Also On Board Freighter Torpedoed by a Submarine.

London, Oct. 31.—Latest advices show that forty-nine Americans were on the steamship Marina, which was torpedoed without warning by a German submarine Oct. 28, 100 miles west of Cape Clear.

Of the 104 members of the crew, possibly 35 have been picked up and landed at Crook Haven, Ireland.

A private telegram to the American consulate from Crook Haven says that a number of Americans were drowned. Some lost their lives, it is said, while lowering boats. Two or three boats are missing.

The admiralty says that the Marina was not under British charter. The Marina was outward bound and was broken in two.

Wesley Frost, American consul at Queenstown, has been ordered by the American government to make a thorough investigation.

Several survivors have given affidavits stating that a submarine shelled the lifeboats while they were being lowered and after they were clear of the ship without causing loss of life.

Among the Americans on board was Andrew E. Kraig of Springfield, O.

All the Americans were white men and most of them were employed as horsemen.

SERIOUS OFFENSE

(By American Press)
Washington, Oct. 31.—Secretary of State Lansing took steps to obtain an explanation from the German government of the shelling by a submarine of the Furness freighter Rowanmore, with Americans on board, on Oct. 26. Cables were forwarded to the American embassy in Berlin and to American Ambassador Page in London, asking all available information concerning the attack.

The official report from Consul Frost at Queenstown stated that the crew of the Rowanmore, including seven Americans, were shelled when in lifeboats after they had surrendered the freighter and cleared from her.

Secretary Lansing declined to give an opinion based on Consul Frost's report. He said no decision would be formed until complete information had been received from the German and British governments.

WARNING AGAINST COERCION

Federal Official Probing Pre-Election Charges In Ohio.

Columbus, Oct. 31.—Admitting that federal investigation already had disclosed violation of election laws in connection with the November election, Frank C. Dailey, special assistant to the United States attorney general, after a conference here with United States District Attorney Bolin, gave out a statement, sounding a warning to all who may contemplate using fraudulent registration and voting schemes and asking that all persons having knowledge of such schemes give their information to federal authorities.

Attorney Dailey, who prosecuted the notorious Terre Haute election fraud cases while he was district attorney in Indianapolis, is investigating reported frauds in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. He says:

"Many reports have been made with reference to violations of federal laws in connection with the ensuing election. The government is making a thorough, impartial and nonpartisan investigation and will continue to investigate. The investigation is not confined to fraudulent registration and colonization of voters, but extends to all fraudulent schemes and violations of which the United States has cognizance. It is reported that men in Ohio have entered into arrangements to intimidate employees and by such intimidation induce them to vote as the employer wishes, and not as the employee desires. Numerous conspiracies of this kind have been reported."

WILD DOG'S WORK

(By American Press)
Greenwood Lake, N. J., Oct. 31.—Game Warden Kline will start on another expedition with the object of exterminating the great pack of wild dogs now terrorizing a section of this state. Last winter part of the dogs were killed in the woods between here and Lake Mombasha by organized hunters, but the animals are again becoming bold. They attack poultry, stock and occasionally humans.

Pres. Wilson's Policy Of Neutrality.

This policy may not satisfy those who revel in destruction and find pleasure in despair. It may not satisfy the fire-eater or the swashbuckler. But it does satisfy those who worship at the Altar of the God of Peace. It does satisfy the Mothers of the land at whose hearth and fireside no jingoistic war has placed an empty chair. It does satisfy the daughters of this land from whom bluster and brag has sent no loving brother to the dissolution of the grave. It does satisfy the fathers of this land and the sons of this land who will fight for our Flag, and die for our Flag when Reason primes the rifle, when Honor draws the sword and Justice breathes a blessing on the standards they uphold.

Germans Launch Vigorous Counter Attack and Recover Lost Trenches South of the Somme, While French and British Gain Ground North of the River—Heavy Fighting Continues In Roumania and Serbia.

London, Oct. 31.—In a vigorous counter attack, the Germans operating south of the Somme river in France have been able to recapture parts of their former trenches north of La Maissonette and in the region of Blaches. In addition, more than 400 Frenchmen were made prisoners. To the north of the river, however, both the French and the British succeeded in advancing their lines—the British between Lesboeufs and Morval and the French northwest of Sailly-Saillisel. In the latter engagement sixty Germans were captured.

While in the Dobrudja region of Roumania the Teutonic allies are keeping up their advance on the Transylvania front the Roumanians are still fighting hard in the Prohova valley and the Jiu valley, where fresh gains have been made by them. In the Rothenturm pass region Berlin records a new success for the Austro-Germans, but admits that southwest of the Szurdok pass the Roumanians have forced the Austro-German columns to fall back.

In massed formation, the Russians in Volhynia, to the west of Pustyn, endeavored to break the Teutonic line, only again to be defeated with heavy casualties, according to Berlin. An other Russian attack east of Szelov also was repulsed by the Germans.

Heavy fighting is still going on at the head of the Cerna river in Serbia, the French and Serbians being engaged there with the Germans and Bulgarians. Berlin reports that all the attacks by the entente forces in this district thus far have failed. On the Doiran front the British have raided a German-Bulgar position, inflicting considerable casualties on the occupants of the trenches.

SYNOPSIS.

Pierpont Stafford, with his daughter Gloria, winters at Palm Beach. Gloria is a vivacious but willful young lady. Her childish capers cause young Doctor Royce to fall in love with her. Lost in the everglades she is captured by the Seminole Indians. Gloria falls in love with her rescuer, Freneau. Five years later she leaves school and meets Freneau at the theater; he has forgotten Gloria. Later Freneau persuades her to forgive him. Gloria's sister-in-law, Lois, becomes intensely jealous. Freneau goes sleighing with Gloria. It results in pneumonia for Gloria. Doctor Royce is summoned. Freneau's finances being low, he approaches Pierpont Stafford. Lois threatens him with dire punishment. Her husband, Gloria's brother David, becomes suspicious. Freneau plans to have Lois send Gloria a bunch of telegrams. Gloria sees from her window an attack made upon Freneau. Doctor Royce convinces her it is delirium. Later, a telegram, followed by a letter, comes from Freneau. She replies, but her telegrams are returned. She sees the supposed suicide of Freneau reported in the paper. Gloria swears to find the murderer of her lover. Royce tells what he knows of Freneau to Mr. Stafford. Together they seek to prevent a ransom from enveloping Gloria. She accuses them in her mind of conspiracy against her. Gloria goes to David's country home. She meets Lois, who flees at once. Gloria insists on going to Palm Beach. Again she sees Lois there, also the tramp who attacked Freneau. But Judge Freeman releases him. She follows the tramp when he leaves the court, and falls into the hands of holdup men. She finds herself in a low saloon dance hall, and is selected by one of the patrons as his partner. Doctor Royce, however, follows her and when he attempts a rescue she goes down on their heads. The hall is raided and the crowd, including Gloria and Royce, is arrested and taken before Judge Freeman.

His attention was attracted by a picture of Indians on the walls. They were doing a scalp-tango about a white captive. Stas wanted to know all about it. He had thought Gloria an angel before, but she grew still more wonderful when she told him that she herself had been an Indian captive. He seemed to be a trifle disappointed when he learned that she had never been honored by being tied to a stake. She saved herself a little by explaining: "I might have been worse than tied to a stake if I hadn't been rescued by Mr. Fre—I mean, Doctor Royce."

Then she fell into such a deep meditation that Stas could hardly recall her to finish the story. It was not yet ended when the butler and the second man marched in with two towers of pasteboard boxes—Stas' trousseau had arrived.

Now there was excitement, indeed, and Gloria and Stas forgot the mere Indians in the thrill of dressing and being dressed. Gloria began to fear that she had adopted a hopeless fop when she saw how Stas strutted in his finery. In his knickers and frilled shirt, his starched collar, silk tie, patent leather shoes, and derby hat, he looked like a pocket Beau Brummel. And then her rapture turned to alarm. The boy began to cough, to turn red and purple in the face, and to shake with paroxysms.

"O, dear! O, dear!" Gloria moaned; "he's had a bath, and it's given him, pneumonia. The doctor! Quick, I must get him to the doctor!"

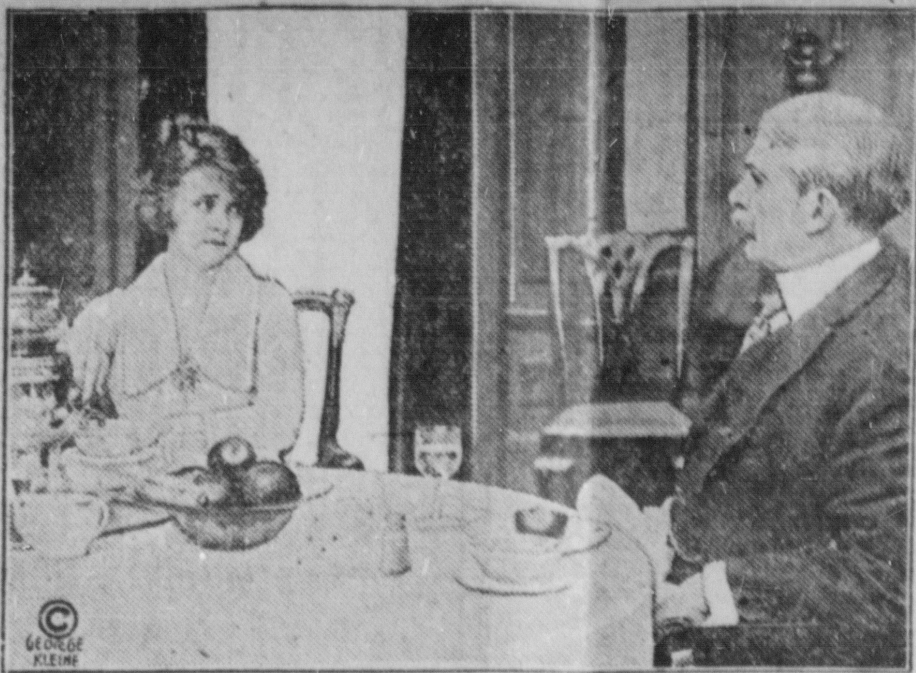

Dr. Stephen Royce was too big to practice the proverb, "Physician, heal thyself." He was dressing the wounds of battle he had received the night before in Gloria's defense. He was plastering his fist and approving it for its good work when a caller was announced. It was Lois Stafford. She had repented of her affair with the dead Freneau and was trying to live it down. Idleness was both temptation and distress. She wanted to know if there was not some work she could do.

"Thank Heaven, Nobody Knows of Your Escape!"

she insisted on going to Casimir's home and taking Casimir with her. She paused only to telephone Doctor Royce to meet her there. He was difficult to understand as a man, but as a doctor he was ideal. So Gloria dashed away with Casimir and Stas, while Hortensia and Pierpont held up their hands in despair of her.

When Gloria's chauffeur and footman heard the address she gave them they thought they had misunderstood. She repeated it in most positive tones. They raised their eyebrows in a way that intimated, "What next?"

Coincidences do happen now and then in real life—not quite so often or so gracefully as in fiction, and yet once in a while. In fact, coincidences make life what it is. And so it chanced that the murderer of Dick Freneau whom Gloria had followed from the night court had found a hiding place in the same block where Casimir lived.

Gloria recognized the region as soon as her limousine turned into it. She recognized the saloon and dance hall where she had found and lost her man. But she did not recognize the murderer's daughter in the crowd that gathered about the unusual limousine when it drew up along the garbage cans.

Nell Trask was looking for her father, and she paused to see the fine lady descending from the palace car. In Nell's arms was the child of Richard Freneau, a beautiful creature like its father. Gloria, hurrying through the crowd, could not help pausing to admire the baby and to tweak the little finger it held up. There for a moment the two women paused with Dick Freneau's child between them; and neither dreamed that the other had ever heard of him. Gloria passed on into the tenement and Nell went to seek her father.

When Gloria was led up and up a gloomy staircase to the one dismal, barren room which Casimir and his wife and their child had had to call home, she felt that she had no right to complain of any woes that had befallen her.

The sick mother was outstretched on an old bed by a dark window. A neighbor's wife, who introduced herself as "Mrs. Slattery, thank you kindly," was sitting by her. Casimir ran to his wife, and gasping with terror at her appearance, dropped on his knees. She embraced him with long white arms so gaunt that they frightened Gloria. Stas ran to the other side of the bed and clambered up. His mother turned, stared at him, and only realized after a long look that he was hers. Then she gathered him to her poor bosom with a sob of pitiful rapture.

Staubenville, O., Oct. 31.—Charged with the murder of Edward G. Glenn, forty-two, wealthy farmer of Fernwood, this county, Mrs. Mary Glenn, thirty-eight, his wife, and William Turner, twenty-one, his stepson, were arrested in Missouri, and are en route back to this city. The accused wife and son left Fernwood shortly after Glenn disappeared, more than three months ago. Glenn's remains, which had been buried in a cornfield, were unearthed by hunters a week ago. The farmer had been murdered and his body tossed in a shallow grave. A shotgun, said to be Turner's, was found near the body. He and his stepfather, it is alleged, had trouble, which led to the killing.

PEACE VIEW OF HINDENBERG

Europe Will Bleed to Death if War Is Continued Indefinitely, General Says.
(Associated Press Cable.)
London, October 31.—The Berlin Vorwaerts, commenting on the interview with Field Marshal von Hindenburg yesterday, in which he discussed many phases of the war, says according to a Berlin dispatch forwarded by Amsterdam:
"He advises France to be reasonable and not act as a further obstacle to peace. This advice will have a better chance of being heard abroad if we show ourselves reasonable, too.
"If we are going to drag this war on indefinitely, then the whole of Europe will bleed to death, and America and the colored races would be our heirs.
"But we want Europe to live, not Germany only, but all the nations. We want France to live. We see her now bleeding white, but we have never hated her.
"We want peace also for England and Russia—peace for the whole blood-stained world."

OFFICE BOYS AT A PREMIUM.
Will Soon Be Extinct as the Dodo, Y. M. C. A. Man Says.
New York.—The office boy is going to be as extinct as the dodo, according to S. G. McConaughy, employment department secretary of the central branch Y. M. C. A. He has scores of applications every month from those who want office boys, but he can fill only a very small percentage because the boys are not to be had.
"The reason seems to be," he said, "that families are in better financial shape now than formerly and can keep their boys in school longer and because in spite of the diminishing supply the demand continues to increase.
"Boys now realize that knowledge is power. They know that skilled labor and technical school trained laborers are paid better wages than unskilled and shop trained labor. They know the advantage of staying in school, for they have learned that to do so will give them a large return later in dollars and cents."
WAS RACING TO MEET STORK.
But Policeman Found Cocaine and Heroin in Harvey's Parcel.
New York.—A young man hastily leaving the drug store of Henry Rubenstein engaged the professional attention of Policeman Flick, who asked him what were the contents of a parcel under his arm.
"Can't stop to talk to you now," said the man, who later said he was Paul Harvey. "It's an emergency case, and the stork will soon arrive. If you are married you can understand the situation."
Then he tried to dash off, but Flick restrained him and insisted upon examining the parcel. According to the policeman, it contained a large quantity of cocaine and heroin. Harvey was held on a burglary charge by Magistrate Brough in Morrisania court.
Birds Stop Gas Supply.
Menominee, Wis.—Two little sparrows caused every gas user in Menominee to go without gas for several hours. The birds built their nest in the outlet pipe of the water tank through which the gas is passed. During the heavy rain the tank overflowed because the nest clogged the outlet pipe. The overflowing of the tank disarranged the apparatus and shut off the gas. The nest was removed later and the gas supply restored.
Theft In Ancient Wales.
In some ways which might nowadays be called "sentimental" the laws of ancient Wales were in advance of those of today. J. E. Lloyd in his "History of Wales" mentions that in some of the codes (which were, as a rule, very severe on theft) a remarkable provision exempted from punishment "the starving man who, after begging for three days and receiving nothing, helped himself to the food which he needed in order to keep him alive. That every man had the right to live was a principle of the law, and the sentiment of the country demanded that every person of substance should keep open house not only for ordinary travelers, but also for the destitute and the friendless."
He Owned Up.
"Young man," said the stern parent, with the accent on the "young," "do you intend to stay here all night holding my daughter's hand and looking her in the face like a sick calf?"
"No, sir."
"What do you intend to do, then?"
"Well, I had thought when you did us the kindness to retire I would put my arm around her waist, and if she did not object too forcibly I might risk a kiss."—London Mail.

Junior Marine Scouts Latest Idea In Preparedness.
TO MAKE IT COUNTRY WIDE.
Major General George Barnett, in Command of the United States Marine Corps, Has Accepted the Honorary Office of Chief Marine Scout—Makes Boys Better Citizens.
New York.—New York city is taking the lead in another preparedness movement which, in the opinion of its organizers, will become nation wide in its scope. The newest organization is known as the Junior Marine Scouts.
More than 800 youngsters living on the west side of Manhattan have already enrolled, and in a short while, declares I. W. Irving, the originator of the idea, thousands of boys in various parts of the country will be members of the organization. The Junior Marine Scouts will train boys between the ages of twelve and eighteen in the duties of United States marines. They will be taught practical seamanship, so that if later in life they desire to enter the merchant service they will have a good foundation in nautical learning.
Major General George Barnett, in command of the United States marine corps, has accepted the honorary office of chief marine scout. In sending his acceptance to Mr. Irving, who served fourteen years in the navy, General Barnett wrote, "I think the plan of teaching the boys the various duties of United States marines an excellent one, and I shall be glad to do anything within my power and consistent with my duty to be of service to the Junior Marine Scouts."

DEXTER'S BARBER GLUM.

Not Telling Customers About Tame Deer He Killed.
Dexter, Me.—All of Dexter is smiling over the exploits of the town barber and the dry goods man. They went deer hunting and killed a tame deer belonging to Samuel Brown, who has a permit from the inland fish and game commission to keep the deer in captivity. The barber and the dry goods man on the road which runs between Hazeltine's Corner and Garland saw a deer in the pasture, and they shot it.
They were so proud of their capture that they went down Main street with the head and feet sticking out of the buggy. They stopped at the door of the hardware store, where the proprietor immediately recognized it as Sam Brown's tame deer, whose picture he endeavored to take with a camera several days previously.
The hardware man does not believe in keeping a good story secret. The town barber is not advertising his exploit.

BOY CARRIES $100,000 IN CURRENCY IN BELT

Mississippi Men Send Large Sum of Cash to New York to Invest in Cotton.
New York.—With $100,000 tucked in a belt safely stowed beneath his gray flannel shirt and additionally protected by his tightly buttoned khaki blouse, young Murdock Schloss of Company B, engineers, of the Colorado national guard, of Boulder, Colo., entered the office of Morris H. Rothschild, cotton broker. The youth, who is only nineteen years old, was attired in the uniform of his corps, even to his puttees.
He was recognized at once by Mr. Rothschild, who had received a telegram saying that Schloss was to be the bearer of the large sum of money which had been pooled by farmers, merchants and plantation owners in the Mississippi cotton belt to be invested in cotton through the New York Cotton Exchange in anticipation of the sensational rise following the publication of the United States agricultural department report.
"I am here," saluted Schloss, "and here is the money," he added, flinging open his blouse and unbuckling a heavy canvas belt.
"Gee, but that was a load of responsibility!" he exclaimed. "And now that it's off my shoulders I want to know where the first moving picture show can be found."
The young man received a substantial reward for his trip east and his faithful delivery of the money.
Incidentally a winning of nearly $800,000 for the Mississippi cotton wisecracks was made.
